

WISCONSIN
SOYBEAN
PROGRAM

Conservation Technology
Information Center

FREE WORKSHOP

MEAL INCLUDED

Cash for Cover Crops Workshops

Join Wisconsin farmers and researchers for discussions on soil health, cover crops, weather and an inside look at enrolling in the new and improved Farmers for Soil Health program.

The workshop is free, but pre-registration is requested. Sponsored by the Conservation Technology Information Center and Wisconsin Soybean Program.

Agenda and Topics:

- Cover crops and soybeans – a perfect match
- Climate and weather outlook
- Farmer and researcher panel highlighting soil health practices

Arlington Ag Research Station
Public Events Building
N633 Hopkins Rd, Arlington, WI 53911

Crossroads Supper Club & Banquet Hall
9315 WI-80, Platteville, WI 53818

Thursday, June 25 from 10 a.m. - noon
Event will end with lunch.

Thursday, June 25 from 4 - 6 p.m.
Event will end with supper.

Presenters

Dr. Shawn Conley
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Amanda Latham
Wisconsin State
Climatology Office

Dr. Rodrigo Werle
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Teagan Duffy
Farmers for Soil Health

Register Now

Questions or Trouble Registering?
Contact Katelyn Engquist
kengquist@agmgmtsolutions.com
507.508.1540

PROGRAM
PARTNERS